CircleUp is a full-stack web platform where user can create activities and can discover, filter, and request to join them. The host can approve or reject requests and the capacity is enforced automatically.

Key highlights:

- Built for everyone - open discovery, with optional gender-specific activities (all / female_only)
- Location, category, and date-based filtering
- Safe & authorized - JWT auth, Argon2 password hashing, ownership-based access control

Features and Functionality

- Activity Discovery - filter by category, location, date, and gender
- Participation Flow - user requests to join → host approves/rejects → status updates (pending/approved/rejected)
- Capacity Locking - with_for_update() pessimistic locking prevents overbooking under concurrent requests
- Host Dashboard - live pending-request counts, one-click approve/reject
- Gender-based Filtering - activities marked all or female_only
- Ownership-based Authorization - only the creator can modify/manage their activity
- Auth - JWT-based login/signup with Argon2-hashed passwords

Backend:

- FastAPI (Python) — layered architecture: routers → services → repositories
- PostgreSQL + SQLAlchemy ORM
- Alembic — versioned database migrations
- JWT for auth tokens + Argon2 (passlib) for password hashing
- Pydantic schemas

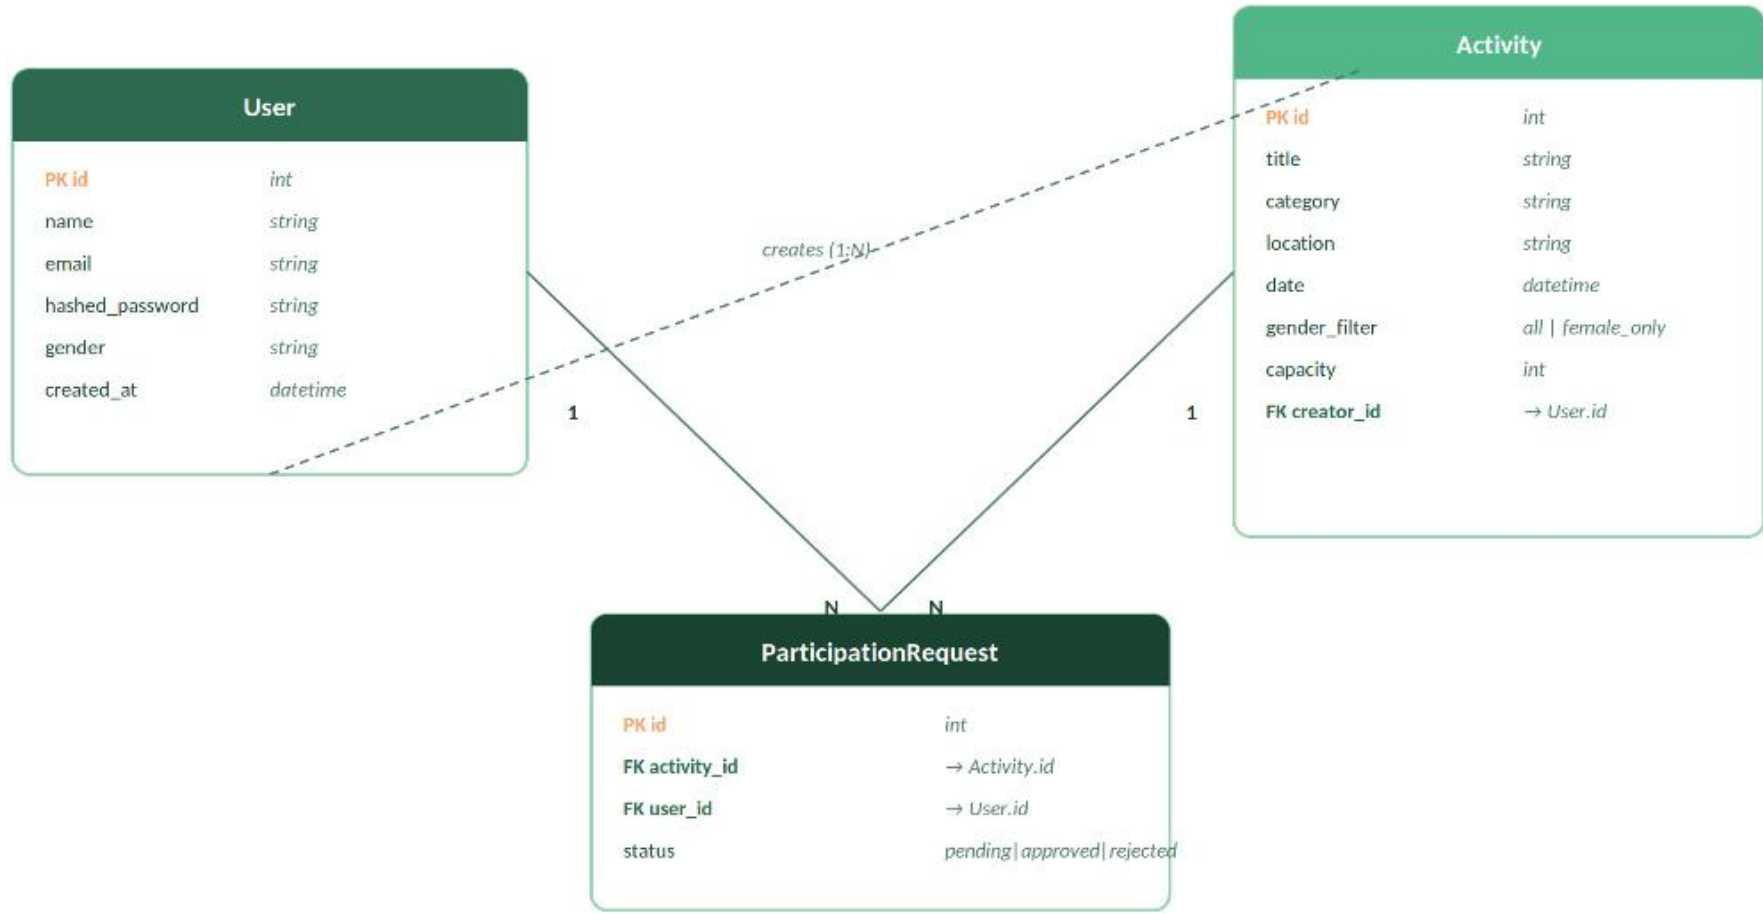

Frontend:

- Vanilla JavaScript (no framework)
- HTML & CSS - Theme - Nunito font, wheat background, pastel green brand color
- Fetch API to call backend REST endpoints
- Served via FastAPI StaticFiles at localhost:8000
